The Art Of "Tapping" Energy

The art of "tapping" the energy in the environment and harnessing it to benefit occupants regardless of the site is what true Feng Shui is all about. People are energy just as buildings situated in the environment contain their own energy. Depending on how these energies meet is indicative of the result that the occupant will receive while dwelling or working in their home or office. It is Jennifer Bonetto's sincere love and passion for Feng Shui that motivated her to start her own company, SOULutions, Inc. and bring "true" Feng Shui to the world. Having lectured and written several articles on Classical Feng Shui, she continues to educate people on this ancient science that has been mistranslated and misused throughout the years.

After losing her mother to cancer in 1999, Jennifer embarked on a spiritual mission that began her journey to heal her body, mind and soul. She learned how emotions, beliefs and the environment affect all aspects of our lives.

Having received audits from various types of Feng Shui consultants, it wasn't until she found Feng Shui from the Wu Chang Feng Shui mastery lineage that her life changed in "miraculous" ways. After utilizing this method with her clients, she achieved results that were far beyond her expectations. This success has had a profound impact on all her clients and hence, SOULutions, Inc. was created. Her background includes employment with several Fortune 500 corporations, having earned an MBA from Chapman University in Orange, CA.

Feng Shui is about enhancing the human experience which covers the entire gamut of wealth, health and relationships.
