Module 12: Feng Shui Recommendations

- The home faces Northeast 1, which in AEM is still not good for the wife. She should make the South-facing interior garage door her main door.
- The husband will get good luck by using either door. The NE is one of his great directions and South 1 (interior garage door) is his +90 in AEM
- The stove sits on the NW and is bad for the husband and good for the wife. However, she is the main bread-winner.
- The knobs face Southeast, which still supports her better than him.
- The back door is SW; they are both supported. SW is one of his good directions and SW 1 for her in AEM is her +90
- The bed can be placed on the Northwest. However, NW would support them both in the Advanced Eight Mansions.
- Bedroom 4 would be better for him as it is located in the West. He should face NE (+90) while sitting at his desk.

Exercise #3 with the recommendations in place

Since the house is on the 3rd 'mountain', beds can be placed on many directions. The last 15 degrees of a direction is known as the 3rd mountain. Generally children do better when the bed is placed on a solid wall

- She should face to the West for good relationship-luck

Exercise #4 with the recommendations in place

Sit the portable stove on the NE corner of the counter facing knobs to the South. While this does burn her +60, it is vastly better than her +70 which may harm her relationships at school and at home
