Module 14: Peach Blossom (Bonus #2)

- The Peach Blossom or aka the Flower of Romance is a Feng Shui technique that uses direction (a specific 15 degree increment) and is based on the animal year in which you were born.

- This technique is used to attract an exciting new lover/partner or to get a marriage proposal from a serious relationship.

- It can be used by both men and women. It is never used for married people to stimulate romance; there are other techniques for that.

- If married couples use the Peach Blossom technique, a third party or "outsider" may show up.

Module 14: Peach Blossom (Bonus #2)

- This is a method that is used to attract a new romantic partner to your life, and it not designed to bring harmony to those relationships in trouble. There are other techniques better suited for that such as activating your +70. It is best used for:

Single people looking for new love interests

A woman waiting for a marriage proposal

Singles looking to increase "attractiveness" or the power to attract

- Now, how do you find your Peach Blossom direction and how to you activate it? It is important to understand that this technique is not as powerful as the Eight Mansions system which is your personal relationship direction (+70). However, results can definitely be had.

- To locate your personal Peach Blossom direction, find the animal year in which you were born. Use the Eight Mansions Chart

Module 14: Peach Blossom (Bonus #2)

- It's easy to activate your Peach Blossom direction. This is done by simply placing fresh flowers in your Peach Blossom area.

- Most people think it is the flowers or roses (roses are universally acknowledged as the flower of love) that activate the Peach Blossom. However, it is actually the water in the vase that will stimulate the energy, but don't place a small fountain in lieu of a vase of flowers. This is not an appropriate method to activate your Peach Blossom direction.

Module 14: Peach Blossom (Bonus #2)

- Never use artificial flowers or plants to activate your Peach Blossom. Replace dead/dying flowers and keep the water clear and clean. Try it for at least 60 to 90 days to gauge the results.
