Eight Mansions Applications

Module 6: Eight Mansions Applications

4

- Remember that the Eight Mansions formula divides the house space into eight sectors with each sector representing one type of luck.
- The four types of luck indicating good fortune are Sheng Chi (+90) for wealth/success; Tien Yi (+80) for health/longevity; Yen Nien (+70) for love/marriage; and Fu Wei (+60) for stability/personal growth. The four types of luck indicating bad fortune are Chueh Ming (-90) divorce/bankruptcy; Lui Sha (-80) bad health/back-stabbing; Wu Gwei (-70) is affairs/lawsuits; and Ho Hai (-60) where nothing goes smooth.
- The idea is to use/energize your good areas and suppress and minimize the bad.

5

Now that you have your Life Gua Number and have located your best/worst directions and what they will indicate or bring to your life, you will be able to improve the Feng Shui of your home and business environments considerably, thereby maximizing the potential of the rooms in which you live and work.

Module 6: Eight Mansions Applications

6

Here are some important ways in which to use Eight Mansion in your living space in order to extract the best luck in all three Feng Shui categories (wealth, health and relationships); some we will discuss in future modules.

- The Main Door (ideally would face your +90, +80, +70 or +60)
- The Master Bedroom (it should be located in your +90, +80, +70 or +60 and your headboard should also be to one of these great directions)
- The Kitchen (uses the bad, bad, good theory)
The Toilets (should be located in your negative sectors of the -90, -80, -70, or -60)
- The Home Office (you should face your +90, +80, +70 or +60 while sitting at your desk/computer)
- The Back Door (should face your +90, +80, +70 or +60)

The Family

In almost every culture in the world, a good family life is pivotal to happiness and meaningful experiences. Feng Shui addresses this important aspect of life and is designed to support the overall harmony within a family unit. Feng Shui and Eight Mansions is used to:

- Increase love between partners
- Produce children for childless couples
- Reduce friction in the family
- Improve the health of family members
- Help an adult child to 'move on'
- Bring about a marriage
- Reduce conflict between relatives
- Bring harmony between siblings

The Importance of Doors

Module 6: The Importance of Doors

9

- Builders and architects in America and other western countries could learn much from Feng Shui about the design and location of doors.
- Doors have important connotations regarding the quality of chi as it flows and moves within the confines of any room or building.

When the main door of your home, shop, or office enjoys good Feng Shui, then the forces are well-balanced and auspicious energy moves into the home, bringing good fortune.

Module 6: The Importance of Doors

- On the other hand, when the main door is afflicted with inferior Feng Shui, then the residents will suffer from harmful energy and events in their lives.
- You must have a good door in order to energize prosperity, vibrant health, and great relationships. In the event that you and your spouse belong to opposite Life Groups, you may have to choose separate doors in which to enter the home so that you both are activating your best directions. (the Advanced Eight Mansions technique will be discussed in a future module).

Using doors that face your +90 will bring you excellent wealth-luck and much prosperity by regular, daily use.

Ideally, your front door should face your +90 and receive the chi from a vibrant road in front.

Doors to Prosperity

If your front door faces your -90, use another door such as an interior garage door, side or back door to bring you auspicious energy.

If you must use a bad door, use it only 10% of the time and find a great facing door and use it most of the time. Using doors that face your -90 will bring you very bad luck such as disasters, money-loss, divorce, bad health, business failures and accidents.

Doors to Disasters

If your front door faces your +80, you will benefit with good health, and unexpected wealth from the heavens. Tien Yi (the Doctor from heaven) is also a second wealth direction. Using doors that face your +80 will bring you wonderful health-luck, wealth, good friends, being recognized in the world, and great support.

Doors to Heavenly Health & Wealth

If your front door faces your -80, use another door such as an interior garage door, side or back door to bring you auspicious energy. If you must use a bad door, use it only 10% of the time and find a great facing door and use it 90% of the time. Using doors that face your -80 will bring you very bad health, back-stabbing, bad romance, accidents, vicious gossip, and can be unrecognized in the world.

Doors to Sickness

If your front door faces your +70, this door will bring you great relationships! Using doors that face your +70 will bring you romance, good networking opportunities, close family connections, great clients, good health, longevity, and descendants that become rich.

Doors to Good Relationships

If your front door faces your -70, use another door such as an interior garage door, side or back door to bring you auspicious energy. If you must use a bad door, use it only 10% of the time and find a great facing door and use it 90% of the time. Using doors that face your -70 will bring you lawsuits, illicit love affairs, robbery, fire hazards, quarrels, disobedient children, and betrayals.

Doors to Bad Relationships

Using doors that face your +60 will bring you stability, personal growth, and wisdom. If your front door faces your -60, use another door such as an interior garage door, side or back door to bring you auspicious energy.

Doors to Stability

Using doors that face your -60 will bring you nothing going smooth, irritating events that continually bring setbacks, disaster but not the type that brings everything to an end. You can win a court case but lose money or you could lose the court case.

Doors bringing Set-Backs

19

- Master Yap loved telling the story of how his client, Mr. Chen (not his real name), stopped using his front door and entered the back door and became a millionaire. Why? He stopped using a -90 door (disasters, money loss) and started using a +90 door (wealth, power).

Module 6: The Importance of Doors

20

Back Door:

- Used often as the access to the backyard/garden. People will activate this door by getting to the back of their property to entertain, swim, and grill, to let the pet out, mow the grass or garden.

Module 6: The Importance of Doors

21

- You can totally change the events in your life by using a good door! Do not miss this opportunity to activate excellent luck by using a different door if needed.
- If you must use a 'bad' door, use it only 20% of the time and the 'good' one 80% of the time.

Home Office/Desks

Module 6: Home Office/Desk

26

Your home office desk should face your +90, +80, +70, or +60 directions

Module 6: Home Office/Desk

27

- Today, more and more people work from home. The more hours you are working at your desk, the important the facing direction is. Ideally you should face your +90 if you have a home-based business.
- Equally important would be to face good directions (+90, +80, +70 or +60) while negotiating, giving a presentation, or making a speech affects our luck and energy. So make sure that your desk and chair are positioned to capture one of your most auspicious directions.

Module 6: The Student Desk

28

- The Chinese culture has always placed great emphasis on education. In olden times, this was the only way for someone lowly to raise their fortunes and prospects. Even today, the Chinese have come to understand that success rests on a superior education and taking advantage of all opportunities.
- If your children have a study area, have them face their +70 or +90 direction while sitting at the desk or work table. If they are doing poorly in school, check the door in which they enter the house and change if necessary.
